

Customized design,
tailored to your requirements

What we put into your aircraft is more than know-how.

It's heritage.

"The art of flying and I have grown up together. I was constructing aircraft before I had even seen one fly." The company created by Anthony Fokker went on to become a world-renowned creator of innovative aircraft. At Fokker Aircraft Services we are inspired by a heritage that has shaped aviation from its very beginnings and throughout the previous century. Now, our know-how is available for your aircraft conversion or completion. Tailored to your requirements, from initial design to full support.

The value of experience.

There is no substitute for experience. Our workforce has been intensively involved in aircraft completions and conversions for numerous VIPs, Heads of State as well as Military Special Missions. You can trust us to deliver the most complex and exclusive aircraft design on time and within budget, with full attention to the smallest details. All of our staff have acquired vast experience in aircraft design, manufacturing, completion and support.

We would now be happy to apply the breadth of our experience to your project.

Complex and exclusive aircraft design, with full attention to the smallest details.

We start our completion services from scratch.

We deliver without.

Fokker Aircraft Services provides a one-stop-shop for conversion and completion of your aircraft, for any combination of exterior or interior modifications.

We complete your aircraft to any new role, satisfying the most exclusive VIP design requirements. And after delivery, swift support is only a single phone call away.

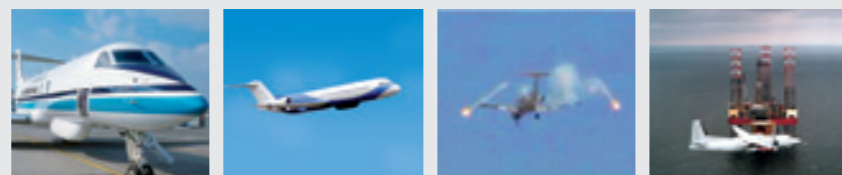

Driven by a practical engineering mindset and focused on achieving tangible results, our highly experienced teams cover a comprehensive range of expertise:

- Operational mission analysis
- Exclusive, customized cabin design
- System design and integration
